KYNDALL WHITE

Kyndall White is a dynamic performer, proudly representing the vibrant city of Charlotte, North Carolina.

Known for her charismatic stage presence, Kyndall dazzles audiences with her knowledge of various dance styles. Her talent has taken her on an exciting journey across stages and productions throughout the United States. In 2024 and 2025, she was crowned an All-American Dancer with the Universal Dance Association (UDA). Kyndall has brought countless pieces to life under the direction of stars like Kristin Daniels, Tribe99, the Isenbergs, Keaton Kermode, Ashlee Dance, and Raquel Aleksandra. You might recognize her from Duelle's "Steppin" music video or ChildLike CC's "Get It Gurl" music video.

With a strong foundation built at her home studio, Dancers Edge, under the guidance of Cathy-Lee Ward (a former NFL cheerleader), Kyndall and her team have snagged multiple national awards and have been celebrated for their creative flair at various competitions and events. Recently, Kyndall's team was thrilled to be invited to perform at the Industry Dance Awards in Los Angeles, California. On top of that, Kyndall received a scholarship placement with Isenberg Entertainment (led by Alex and Hannah Isenberg) to join their "Bridge the Gap: Pre-Professional Training Program" and the artist development track in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Kyndall is buzzing with excitement to expand her connections in the dance community and is all set to jump at every thrilling opportunity that comes her way.
